

The Year Is Dying.

The drama of the year is moving rapidly toward a climax. In the passing of summer and fall the events of nature's wonderful plays are yet visibly outlined. It has been glorious weather, blue and golden. It is more like mid-October than the end of November.

When the month of October was young, an early frost, only frigid enough to bring death to the most tender vegetation, served to paint the woodlands with vivid colors of scarlet and gold. Since then, with the exception of a few bleak days, blue skies have smiled upon a green, growing world. Thus it was the middle of November when the first killing frost came. Roses were blooming in sun-kissed gardens, and cherry and peach trees were putting forth blossoms like their buds had been, touched by the warm kiss of May. Many of the forest trees donned robes of rich, summer green; the lawns became fresh again, the bees droned lazily over the white clover, and the songbirds came back and warbled their joyful melodies.

Now comes the approach of December, snow-faced and cold. He blows his frigid breath and the green, growing, blooming things of earth are withered. The approach of winter never seems kindly. The leaves of the trees, blades of grass and the flowers and the physical fibers of men all droop, and the birds take their flight to some far-off, sunny land. But never, so far as our knowledge extends, was the passing of summer and fall so much delayed. Even yet, the lingering sunshine, some of these bright days, has almost a breath of springtime warmth in it; and it is only when the winds come out of the north to war with the golden sunbeams and to whirl the lifeless leaves as if in mockery, that we realize summer is over and gone and that winter is due and is really here.

Do You Make a Profit In Buying, As Well As In Selling?

MANY men seem to think they can make money only by selling something—they don't seem to realize there's such a thing as making a profit in buying.

The shrewd buyer makes money just as surely as the shrewd seller. When you buy lumber, go after the top market value—get the best lumber you can for your money—that's buying lumber at a profit.

The Best Value in Lumber in the Market Today. High Quality and Low Price Considered.

Southern Yellow Pine

"The Wood of Service"

The United States Government, in Bulletin No. 99 of the Agricultural Department, says of Southern Yellow Pine: "It may be had in long pieces, free from serious defects, and possesses great strength and stiffness. In addition to that, it has enduring qualities that add much to its value."

We Sell That Kind

Come in and figure with us on your building and repair work—you'll be surprised to learn how little high-grade Southern Yellow Pine will cost you. Now is the time.

TO-DAY.

Heavenly Father, great, omnipotent, Bounteous giver of all good; Up to thee we send a message. Daily, hourly, send a message. But today most fervently, We thank thee, O kindest Father, For life and health and peaceful land, For love and home's unbroken band. But there's just a tinge of sadness In our joyful song of thanks, For the land across the ocean, Whose blood-red rivers fill their banks. All-wise Father, in thy wisdom, Couldst thou change cries of distress To happy prayers of thankfulness, Then our joy would be heart-deep, complete.

ANNA F. T. HILLARD.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Otis Popham, editor of the Herald, mysteriously disappeared Wednesday morning, but has been heard from. No, he hasn't gone to join the European war, nor to the World's Fair; nor has the open season for ducks anything to do with his absence. The real truth is, he has taken heed to the Biblical injunction which advises that man should not live alone. At Advance, Missouri, early this morning, November 25, 1915, as the sun journeyed up into a blue, cloudless sky, flooding the world with warmth and light and good cheer, Otis Popham and Miss Esther Schonhoff were made one in the bonds of matrimony.

Elmer Vaughn has paid for the Herald for another year.

W. P. Meatte, H. H. Thompson, with W. C. Cook, motored over to the county seat Tuesday afternoon.

For sound, hand-picked apples, cheap, see Chas. Morgan or Trig Sanders. 3-11

A cup of Silver Moon Coffee will do you good these cool mornings. Get it at Buckley's. 52-1

Dime Downing, Frank Nunn and Geo. Dorris were in Caruthersville Tuesday attending to court.

Try the New Perfection oil stove for that cold room. Get them for $3.75 at the Spot Cash Grocery. 48-11

Those large wool blankets and comforts makes you nice and warm these nights—at Uncle Fuller's Variety Store.

See sample at the Herald office. Buy seed from T. C. Settle. It's fine. It's the great Brazilian flour corn. 52-11

Lloyd Brownfield, a young gentleman of Memphis, Tenn., is in the city visiting his friend, Kos Dorris.

Hand-picked apples, at the right price. Phone Chas. Morgan or Trig Sanders. 3-11

H. V. Litzelfelner, deputy collector and a good one, has our thanks for the prompt renewal of his subscription.

See me before you buy your winter heating stove or range. I can save you money. A. G. Sanders, Hayti, Mo. 49-11

J. W. Dowdy of Essex came down the latter part of last week for a visit with his son-in-law, Prof. W. H. Johnson, and family.

Why not buy the best flour, when it costs no more than cheaper brands? Try LEE BRAND. Sold exclusively at Averill's Store. 2-11

John W. McFarland has our thanks for the renewal of his subscription to the Herald. John is one of this paper's oldest subscribers.

Rev. W. A. Henshaw and wife of Memphis, Tenn., were visiting W. H. McGuire and family Friday and Saturday.

Throw away those dingy newspapers on your shelves, and put on new ones. 10 cents per hundred at this office.

Jim Pollock of Campbell, while on his way to Sikeston stopped over in this city between trains for a visit to several of his friends.

The Gould Store Co., of Caruthersville is a new subscriber to the Herald. Still the Herald continues to grow by leaps and bounds.

Cold weather is almost here, and it's high time that you are preparing for it. Get your stovepipe and elbows now for 10 cents per joint, at Spot Cash Grocery. 48-11

Wm. Hopkins of Jonesboro, Ark., came up Monday and is here this week visiting his sons, E. and Thos. Hopkins, and families.

Mrs. Shirley Snyder and little children, who have been visiting Mrs. Snyder's mother, Mrs. Kittie Walker, for several months came up Monday.

We are preparing for a big holiday business, and buying all the time. So if you have something special in mind that you want to get for some one, consult us about it. We will get it for you. Buckley. 52-11

John I. Stephens and family came down from Chaffee yesterday afternoon to spend Thanksgiving with Mr. Stephens' father, Elmer Stephens and family.

Ed Hardin, an old Campbell boy, who is now one of the guards of the penitentiary, at Jefferson City, stopped over in this city Sunday night to visit friends.

Mrs. Ruby Graham and little daughter of Mathews, came down Friday afternoon for a short visit with her father, Will Morris, and family, returning home Sunday morning.

Mrs. W. I. Oates who came down last week for a visit to her husband and relatives, returned home Thursday, leaving her little daughter, Sarah, with her father for a while. The little girl will attend the Hayti school.

Charles Marion, the little three year old son of Mrs. Lessie Gregory, died near this city late Thursday of last week. He was buried Friday afternoon in the Dry Bayou cemetery, funeral services being held at the cemetery by Rev. J. J. Wilson of Foust.

Judge G. R. Henderson of Concord was in this city Tuesday morning and of course renewed his subscription to the Herald. The Judge was the Herald's first subscriber and paid for it, and not only that but he gave the Herald its first piece of job work.

Andy Shaw has paid for the Herald for another year. Andy used to live in this city, but somehow or other, he seems to be weaned away. At any rate, he is a good booster. This makes Andy the farthest ahead of any paid up subscriber to the Herald.

Miss Ethel Martin returned from Lepanto, Ark., Saturday night, where she had been attending the bedside of her aunt, Mrs. O. L. Reed. She reports that her aunt is much improved in health. Miss Martin says she likes the country fine.

Rev. G. M. Brooks, wife and son, Mack, came over from their home at Greenway, Ark., Tuesday for a few days' visit with relatives. They were accompanied by Rev. J. W. Foster, who will also visit in Blytheville, Ark.

You will find the financial statement of the Holland Bank in today's paper, and for "hard times," it does seem that this institution is keeping abreast with some of the older enterprises. The bank is enjoying a phenomenal growth, and having a territory practically all its own, there is not a shadow of a doubt but that a prosperous future lies before it.
